Have you ever felt strongly that every intersection of Twenty-Fourth street in San Francisco's Mission District should be depicted in screen printed oak panels and configured in a 30 foot-long grid?

Permanently installed at the new Local Mission Eatery, the series of twenty four prints chronicles all your favorite shady alleys, memorable denizens and diverse flavors of Twenty Fourth Street. The opening celebration takes place Wednesday May 5th from 6pm to 8pm

- Limited edition paper prints of each piece will be available.
- Items from Local Mission's acclaimed food and drink menu will be available at discount.
