

JON FISCHER // STARTUP ART FAIR

“Observations indicate that things are always made of smaller things, leading to the unanswerable question: what is the smallest thing?
A loop-like model of the universe may avoid this problem.”

-S.J. Manetta 1905

turntable drawings

TURNTABLE DRAWINGS is an ongoing collaboration w/ composer Danny Clay based on a growing series of hand-molded, playable records. Part sculptural sketch, part three-dimensional print, each record is part of a wide-ranging collection formed using a variety of techniques & materials. Records are imprinted with mathematical tones (🌀), original recorded material (🎧), or direct casts of existing LPs that include some of history's earliest recorded sounds (📀). Since 2016, the project has been presented in conjunction with over twenty guest artists & musicians in many interdisciplinary forms including immersive installations, scored musical compositions, visual art exhibitions, and interactive workshops. Recent installations include Kala Art Institute, Center for New Music, and McEvoy Foundation for the Arts.
